COMMENT OF THE DAY

Crippling Conditions

SATISFACTION over the rapid creation of a United Nations police force to replace the Anglo-French occupation troops in the Suez Canal is tempered by the astonishing conditions which Egypt has managed to persuade Mr. Hammarskjöld to accept. They are conditions never contemplated by the UN General Assembly when it approved, by a decisive vote, the resolution to take over the task which Britain and France had appointed to themselves. There is little point in despatching UN police forces to the Suez unless they can function effectively. The rights and reservations which Egypt has imposed mean that the UN policemen could be rendered ineffective at any given moment. Completely denying the authority which should reside in the UN police forces, Egypt has succeeded in arrogating to herself the following rights: power to veto each separate entry or shipment of equipment; to define where the UN forces shall be located; to demand, when she wants to, the withdrawal of the UN policemen; obtain their removal from the Canal to the Egyptian-Israeli border as soon as Anglo-French troops have left.

THE imposition of any of these conditions is sufficient to jeopardize the mission which the United Nations have delegated to Major-General Burns and his international brigade. Without freedom of movement they cannot be expected efficiently to fulfil their policing functions. The unsatisfactory terms of Egypt's agreement to the presence of UN police forces in the country must of necessity claim the close attention of Britain and France. They have willingly agreed to withdraw in favour of UN forces, but they have all along insisted that such forces must be wholly effective, both in numerical strength and operational powers. The agreement with Egypt appears to deprive them of the latter.

The United Nations forces are going to Egypt primarily to prevent any recurrence of Egyptian-Israeli hostilities. But they have other tasks, one of the most important being to safeguard the Canal, so that under their protection the waterway, as speedily as possible, can be cleared of wreckage and again made functional. Under the terms of Hammarskjöld's agreement with Nasser, Egypt can dictate their removal from the Canal and thus prevent them from carrying out these policing duties.

THE probability of Egypt rendering the United Nations forces innocuous both in purpose and accomplishment is an unhappy prospect. It was always the intention of the United Nations that its forces despatched to Egypt should be invested with the fullest authority. As it is they are at the dictation of Egypt; hedged around by restrictions and equivocations; a police force that can operate only according to the whims of the Egyptian leaders in Cairo.

Under such circumstances no one will envy General Burns and the invidious position in which he has been placed. It is highly unlikely that his mission will be wholly successful. Indeed, judging by the conditions which Egypt has managed to impose, everything points to Nasser being determined to prevent the UN forces from fulfilling their functions effectively.

The United Nations face the prospect of having their experiment in international policing thwarted by one country. Their competence as a world organization may yet have to face the most serious challenge to date.

BUDAPEST STRIKE CONTINUES

Top-Level Talks Said To Be In Progress

WORKERS WANT RED ARMY OUT

Budapest, Nov. 13.

Defiant Hungary spurned Government appeals to go back to work today amid rumours of top-level political bargaining going on behind the scenes.

Many workers went back to the factories this morning — but only to draw their wages and pass resolutions demanding the withdrawal of Soviet troops, reinstatement of the deposed Prime Minister Imre Nagy and free elections.

In Budapest the guns were silent, but the land of Czepl, a huge industrial centre, was teeming with the hands of the Hungarian nationalists. Russian tanks and infantry, with armoured scout cars, patrolled the crowded, debris-strewn streets, and stood guard over Parliament, ministries, public buildings, bridges and other strategic points.

They drove past battered, shrapnel-scattered walls with the words "Strike" and "Russians go home" chalked on them.

Demonstrations

Some anti-Russian and anti-Government demonstrations were reported in the ravaged capital but there were no eyewitness confirmation of this. Messages reaching the capital said small armed bands of Hungarian nationalists were still fighting Soviet troops in various parts of the country. Informed sources said negotiations were continuing between Mr. János Kádár, who was installed as Prime Minister when the Soviet troops blasted their way into the city last week, and Imre Nagy, the man he deposed or allegedly yielding to "Fascists".

These sources said that other political leaders including Social Democrats and chiefs of the Peasants Party and Small-holders Party, were also being contacted in a bid for a compromise solution and the formation of a government with sufficient popular support to get the country back to work.

Sources close to the Government, however, described the political manoeuvring as "only treachery" and rejected the widely circulating reports that a number of Soviet leaders were also in Budapest for negotiations with the Hungarians.

These reports which were given considerable credence in Western diplomatic circles, said that among the Soviet leaders were Mr. Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy Premier, (Contd. on back page, Col. 8)

'New Deal' For Cyprus Is Ready

London, Nov. 13.

The Colonial Secretary Mr. Alan Lennox-Boyd said today that Lord Radcliffe had completed his draft for a new constitution for Cyprus.

He told the House of Commons that Radcliffe's recommendations were delivered to him yesterday and will be published "in due course" after the Government has fully considered them.

"Meanwhile," he said, "our first task must remain to bring terrorism to an end."

Mr. Lennox-Boyd said Britain hoped to be able to offer the people of Cyprus a constitution which would give them "a wide measure of self-government while safeguarding the interest of all communities."—United Press.

Britons Sacked

Amman, Nov. 13.

Arab Airways announced today it will terminate the contracts of its 13 British pilots and employ "neutrals".

The spokesman said the decision was inevitable as the other Arab states will not allow British pilots to fly over their countries.—United Press.

Demands Not Met

Vienna, Nov. 13. Budapest Radio said tonight representatives of the Hungarian Government of Mr. János Kádár and workers' councils today failed to agree on demands made by the councils. The radio said the discussions would be continued tomorrow. The workers' councils, including representatives of the Writers' Association, had stated they expected Government agreement to their demands so they could resume work "in a short time."

The radio did not say what the demands were. They are believed here to be those put forward in leaflets reported to be circulating in Budapest. These called for the withdrawal of Russian troops, free elections to be fought by parties respecting the achievements of socialism, and the observance of human rights in Hungary.—Reuter.

ARMS DUMP IN HOSPITAL

Port Said, Nov. 13. A Royal Marine commando raiding party today found an arms dump hidden in the clothing store of an Egyptian hospital.

They uncovered about 50 machineguns, rifles, and pistols and about 10,000 rounds of ammunition buried under heaps of clothes.

Commando Captain Derek Oakley, of Yelverton, Devon, said: "We had a tip the arms were hidden in the hospital. It is possible some of the patients are concealing weapons."—Reuter.

NOW IT'S 'GET OUT ISRAEL'

Bagdad, Nov. 13.

The Iraq Government urged today that "friends" of Arab nations should prove their goodwill by removing Israel from the Middle East to promote peace in the area.

The Government, in a sharp foreign policy shift, said it considered peace could not prevail in the Middle East as long as Israel exists. A Government spokesman said: "The Iraq Government hopes that friends of Arab countries who recently condemned Jewish aggression, will prove their goodwill by removing Israel from the Middle East."

Iraq, a member of the five-nation Baghdad pact, hitherto had followed the United Nations recommendation of 1947, separating Palestine in two states, one Jewish and one Arab, which became a part of Jordan.

Only Solution

The government spokesman added: "The Iraq Government is convinced the only just and right solution is to uproot the Israeli danger and return the usurpers to their former countries, leaving the space for Arab refugees."

The Iraq Cabinet decided to convey its decision to all diplomatic missions here and to the conference of Arab chiefs of state, which opened today in Beirut. The Cabinet notified its United Nations delegation of its views.—France-Press.

Ingrid's Operation

Paris, Nov. 13.

Ingrid Bergman, Swedish-born film actress, entered the American hospital here tonight for an appendicitis operation. A hospital official said the operation would be carried out tomorrow.—China Mail Special.

EGYPTIAN 'COLLABORATOR' FOUND MURDERED

Port Said, Nov. 13.

The first reprisal killing for collaboration with the Anglo-French forces today plunged this city into a new grip of terror.

The murdered man was Port Said's posts and telegraphs director, who was persuaded by the allied occupying forces to return to his job in order to get the telephone exchange running again. A few hours after he returned to work he was found shot dead reportedly by armed guerrillas still living underground in the Masalla Arab quarter.

There were fears voiced here that Soviet diplomatic representatives were playing a major role in a campaign to foster civilian resistance to the Anglo-French occupation. Leaflets were circulated in the Arab quarter today threatening death to anyone found collaborating or fraternizing. A notice was posted on one of the town's largest cafes proclaiming "anyone who collaborates with the British faces death."

This outbreak of terrorism has given the Anglo-French authorities a new problem—how to maintain the city administrative machine.

Already water has been rationed in some parts of the town to two hours daily, and the level of the sweet water canal, the town's water source, has been dropping steadily in the last few days. This indicated that the Egyptians might be cutting it off south of Kantara.

Most of the town is without electric power, while bookshops are almost empty.—United Press.

AID OFFER ACCEPTED

United Nations, Nov. 13. The Hungarian Government has informed the United Nations Secretary-General, Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld, it is ready to receive representatives chosen by him to examine with them the question of humanitarian aid to Hungary.

Hammarskjöld postponed his departure for Cairo after he had received the Hungarian note. He now expects to leave for Rome on his way to Cairo on Wednesday instead of today.

The Hungarian note gave a full list of the food and medical supplies which the Hungarian people urgently needed. Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld delayed his departure for Cairo because he considered the Hungarian note needed his personal attention.

The Hungarian note thanked Mr. Hammarskjöld for the offer of assistance from the United Nations and said it was ready to examine with the Secretary-General the most appropriate means of arranging for the U.N. aid to be got to Hungary.

The Hungarian note asked for food, coal, glass, wood, lorries and ambulances. A long list of medical supplies, surgical instruments and hospital equipment was also included.

The note ended with a renewal of the Hungarian Government's appreciation of the aid offer. It was signed by Ivan Sebes, acting Foreign Minister.—France-Press.

Assembly To Discuss Hungary

New York, Nov. 13.

The General Assembly of the United Nations today decided to put the Hungarian problem on its agenda despite Soviet and Hungarian objections.

It also decided, unanimously and without discussion, to include the Middle East crisis on the agenda.

Assembly discussion on both items had been recommended by the Steering Committee, which met earlier in the day.

The Assembly vote to include the Hungarian item was 62 to nine, with eight abstentions; and the vote to have it discussed in a plenary session as a priority matter was 51 to nine with 19 abstentions.

STRANGE MIXTURE

M. Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister, said in the Assembly that the Soviet explanation of the situation in Hungary was "a strange mixture of cynicism and hypocrisy."

He asked: "Do they take us for fools or cowards?"

A vast cry of pity and horror must rise from the United Nations. We must not close our eyes and ears to this terrible situation."

At the Steering Committee's meeting earlier Mr. Selwyn Lloyd, the Foreign Secretary, said Britain supported inclusion of the Middle East item. Both in the Steering Committee and in the Assembly Mr. V. K. Krishna Menon, Indian Minister without portfolio, proposed that the Hungarian item be sent on to the key Political Committee for discussion rather than to the Assembly as a priority matter.

Mr. Viktor Belaund, of Peru, said that if the item was handed to the Political Committee it would be delayed for a week.—Reuter.

Vienna, Nov. 13.

All Red Cross convoys can now enter Hungary, the International Red Cross Committee press service in Vienna announced this evening.—France-Press.

ROKOSSEVSKI GOES

Warsaw, Nov. 13.

Loud applause greeted Polish Premier, Josef Cyrankiewicz, when he announced in the Polish Diet tonight the resignation of Soviet-trained Marshal Constantin Rokossovski from the Ministry of Defence.

The Premier announced without comment the reshuffle of his government and the Council of State.

He said General Marjan Spychalski had been appointed Minister of Defence.

General Spychalski became acting Defence Minister when Marshal Rokossovski was "on leave" shortly after the reinstatement of the Liberal Communist leader, Vladislav Gembulka on October 19.

Not Spectacular

The new Minister of Defence was appointed in 1950, six months before Gembulka.

General Janusz Zarzycki, Mayor of Warsaw, has been appointed Deputy Defence Minister.

Premier Cyrankiewicz also announced the appointment of three new ministers to take charge of education, public health and shipping.

Apart from the replacement of Marshal Rokossovski, the government reshuffle has not been spectacular, but a number of key posts have been taken over by technicians.—France-Press.

Theoretical Shift In Balance Of Power In UN

New York, Nov. 13.

Admission of three minor powers to the United Nations has theoretically shifted the General Assembly's balance of power and given two groups of states, voting in unison, power to block any resolution on an "important question" needing a two-third majority.

The three newcomers — Sudan, Morocco and Tunisia — increase to 26 members the Afro-Asian group, already the biggest single block in the organization and due to swell further when Japan becomes a member — probably at this session.

The other group, with which many of the African and Asian states often find themselves in alignment, is the ten-member Communist block, led by the Soviet Union.

Not Bound

In fact the two groups may never find themselves vetoing resolutions in the 48-member Assembly because not all of their members see eye to eye.

Among the Communist states, Yugoslavia sometimes takes a "rebel" role; and Ethiopia, Laos, Liberia, Pakistan, the Philippines and Turkey tend not to be bound by all Afro-Asian group majority decisions.

In contrast, the 20-nation Latin-American block, second biggest ethnic unit, almost invariably votes in line, and, with hardly any exceptions, solidly with the United States and like-minded Western powers.

A two-third majority in the Assembly is required for such resolutions as recommendations about the maintenance of international peace and security; elections to the Security, Economic and Social and Trusteeship Councils; the admission of new members; suspension of membership rights and privileges; expulsion of members; and questions about the trust-ship systems operation; and budgetary matters.

The Group

The countries in the three groups mentioned are: Afro-Asian — Afghanistan, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Jordan, Libya, India, Indonesia, Pakistan, Sudan, Tunisia, Morocco, Syria, Lebanon, Turkey, Laos, the Philippines, Thailand, Ethiopia, Liberia, Nepal, Egypt, Iraq and Iran.

Communist — Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Albania, Bulgaria.

Latin American — Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela — China Mail Special.

Thai Prince Elected President Of General Assembly WILL TAKE EVERY FEASIBLE STEP TOWARDS ENLARGING MEMBERSHIP

New York, Nov. 13.

Prince Wan of Thailand, President of the United Nations General Assembly, today welcomed 19 new members to the organization with a call for still further efforts to make the UN completely world-wide.

Most of the 19 were admitted to the United Nations last December. The Assembly approved membership of three countries as its first action of the new session yesterday.

Prince Wan, who is Thailand's Foreign Minister, said every feasible step towards enlarging UN membership was a step towards strengthening the foundations of peace.

World-Wide

"We must be unflinching in our efforts in this direction until the United Nations Organization becomes truly, and completely, a world-wide organization," he declared.

The Assembly itself later approved, without discussion, the inclusion of the Middle East item on its agenda.

The Steering Committee's recommendation for inclusion of the Hungarian item on the agenda was immediately opposed in the Assembly by the Hungarian Foreign Minister, Mr. Imre Horvath.

He reiterated that the situation in his country was a matter within the exclusive jurisdiction of Hungary.

Mr. Vasily Kuznetsov, the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, supported the Hungarian argument, contending that what was happening in Hungary was a purely domestic affair.

Brotherly Help

The Soviet Union, he claimed, had brought its "brotherly, allied help" to the Hungarian people.

M. Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister, said that the Soviet explanation of the situation in Hungary was "a strange mixture of cynicism and hypocrisy."

"Do they take us for fools or cowards?" he asked. "If the

PRINCE WAN

Soviet thesis were to prevail, the terrible threat of the loss of freedom would hang over each and everyone of us.

"If we accept the Soviet explanations, we are unworthy to sit here and we will be setting up a precedent which would have terrible consequences."

M. Spaak said he had today received a cable from a friend who had just returned from the Austro-Hungarian frontier, which spoke of "waves of refugees even greater than before, of 30,000 casualties, of people dying of hunger, of crowded hospitals and operations without anesthetics."

"A vast cry of pity and horror must rise from the United Nations," he said. "We must not close our eyes and ears to this terrible situation."

Meeting Radioactive Fallout

Washington, Nov. 13.

The threat of radioactive fallout from atomic attack should be met by keeping the home fires burning in the cities, not by fleeing to the country, a physician said today.

The physician, Dr. Herman A. Hulse of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, said heat and accompanying upward air currents can form a protective umbrella over a city that would fend off cumulus clouds and layers of haze bearing the dangerous atomic debris. Another doctor backed his theory.

Dr. Hulse's proposal was made public at a news conference during the Southern Medical Association convention here. It would reverse current civil defense theories of evacuation so far as they apply to cities threatened only by fallout.

Dr. S. D. Sullenberger, disclosed during the news conference that he had made independent experiments leading to the same conclusion.—United Press.

Colombo Powers Against Any Volunteers

New Delhi, Nov. 13.

The Prime Ministers of four Colombo Powers — India, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia — meeting here today are understood to have agreed that introduction of any "volunteers" into the Middle East would "gravely jeopardize the chances of an enduring peace" in that region.

Conference sources said that the four statesmen in their review of the world situation had agreed on seven main points:

1. That they endorse fully the United Nations' directive to Israeli and British and French forces to withdraw from Egypt;
2. That they endorse the posting of an international police force;
3. That the scope and functions of that force should not in any way jeopardize the sovereignty of Egypt or prejudice a settlement of the Suez Canal dispute;
4. That the Suez Canal dispute should stand exactly where it stood before the attack on Egypt and that nothing should be done which would go against the interests of Egypt in the Suez area;
5. That formation of military pacts such as the Baghdad Pact contribute towards international tension and should be abolished;
6. That introduction of volunteers from any country into the Middle East would gravely jeopardize the chances of enduring peace in that region.

The four Prime Ministers — Mr. Nehru of India, U Ba Swa of Burma, Mr. Solomon Bandaranaike of Ceylon and Mr. Ali Sastroamidjojo of Indonesia — have held three sessions in the past two days.

Pakistan, the fifth Colombo Power was not represented.

Might Withdraw

The Indian news agency, Press Trust of India, said tonight that according to political observers Pakistan stayed away probably because of feeling that her presence would put her "in an embarrassing position in the context of her various alignments," adding that there was speculation that Pakistan might withdraw from the association of Colombo Powers.—Reuter.

OIL PROTEST

Baghdad, Nov. 13.

The Iraq Government today made a firm protest to Syria against reports published by Syrian newspapers that Iraqi oil was still flowing from Iraq to Beirut.

Syrian newspapers are subject to military censorship. The reports followed the sabotage on Jordan territory of the Iraq Petroleum Company's pipeline from Iraq to Haifa. The pipeline was cut in May, 1948, when the Palestine war began. The Iraq Government announced that it was sending a press delegation to Jordan to see that the pipeline was not operating.—France-Press.

Murder Appeal Rejected

Washington, Nov. 13.

The United States Supreme Court rejected today an appeal by Dr. Samuel Sheppard, who was sentenced to 10 years to life imprisonment in 1954 on charges of murdering his wife, Marilyn.

Sheppard's appeal said his trial had been influenced by publicity from the press, radio and television.—France-Press.

BRITISH CASUALTIES IN EGYPT

ONLY 176 FOR ALL SERVICES

London, Nov. 13. British forces suffered 176 casualties—including 25 killed and two missing and presumed dead—during operations in Egypt, according to official figures released here today.

Lists from each service ministry showed that army casualties were highest, with 15 killed and 96 wounded.

COMMUNIST PARTY BANNED

Buenos Aires, Nov. 13.

Penal Court Judge, Luis Botet, today ruled that the Communist Party in Argentina could not contest seats in the forthcoming general elections.

According to a law recently introduced, only "democratic political parties" may take part in the election.

"The Communist Party is not a democratic party," ruled Judge Botet, "but the most striking example of totalitarianism in contemporary political history."

WEIGHT OF ARMS

Since the coming of a single party in Russia, the Judge continued, this political idea had been maintained by the brutal weight of arms in foreign territory under the pretext that "the stability of the peoples states was in danger."

Events in Hungary, said the Judge, had shown the fiction of the dissolution of the third international some years ago. "Democratic republics in their turn must firmly watch over individual liberty," said Judge Botet. —France-Press.

Only Rumours About Mr K

Moscow, Nov. 13. A Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman said here tonight that reports of the departure of Soviet Communist Party First Secretary, Nikita Khrushchev, for Budapest were due to "rumours spread about recently by the Western press."

The Ministry had no information on the subject, he said. The spokesman at the same time refused either to confirm or deny the news in a more categorical fashion. —France-Press.

ALGERIAN PROBLEM DISCUSSION

Washington, Nov. 13. The Algerian problem at the United Nations Assembly and the United States attitude towards it will be discussed here next week by Tunisian Premier Habib Bourguiba and Moroccan Foreign Minister Achmet Balafrey, the United Press was informed today.

Meanwhile it was understood the Algerian problem at the United Nations was among the subjects discussed by French Ambassador Herve Alphand with Deputy Secretary of State Robert Murphy at the State Department today.

It is the French contention that the Algerian problem should not be brought up for discussion at the Assembly until the Near East and Hungarian problems are disposed of and consequently it would be preferable for the Assembly not to take it up until next year.

The French are reported to hope the postponement would allow time for better relations to be won in France and Morocco and Tunisia and for some solution to be found for the Algerian problem, possibly on a federal basis with the Sultan of Morocco as the federative head. Such a federation would have Commonwealth status relations with France—United Press.

Russian Envoy To Poland Recalled

Warsaw, Nov. 13. The Soviet Ambassador to Poland, Pantaleon Ponomarevko, left Warsaw unexpectedly today for the Soviet Union.

Yesterday, the Ambassador had made a number of engagements for today, which were cancelled this morning.

No reason was given for his sudden departure, but diplomatic circles in Warsaw considered he was probably recalled to prepare for the forthcoming visit of Khrushchev, a Communist Party leader, Vladimir Gomułka.

Gomułka is to leave on Thursday or Friday for Moscow, where he will discuss with Soviet leaders the new bases for Polish-Soviet co-operation, following the recent changes in Polish political affairs. —France-Press.

Strike Fails In France

Paris, Nov. 13. The Communist-sponsored "anti-Fascist" strike throughout France today met with little support, with the public services functioning absolutely normal, and only token strikes in many large Parisian factories.

Altogether some 3,200 workers downed tools for half an hour in the big automobile factories in and around Paris, out of the 39,000 workers in the French nationalised Renault works, there were only 285 strikers.

In the Lorraine basin, 6,000 workers out of 135,000 employed in the iron works and mines were on strike today.

The French nationalised railways reported not a single absentee, out of a total of 370,000 employees. —France-Press.

US $1 Million For Hungary

United Nations, Nov. 13. US Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. presented to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld today a cheque for $1 million as the US contribution to the UN relief programme for Hungary.

"May this contribution be one of many contributions made by governments and by private organisations," Lodge said, "it is for the benefit of people who are now destitute because they have tried to achieve the human rights and fundamental freedoms which are recognised as a basic principle in the Charter of the United Nations." —United Press.

RUSSIAN INTERVENTION WAS CORRECT SAYS PEOPLE'S DAILY

London, Nov. 13. China's official mouthpiece, the Peking People's Daily, today said that Soviet Russia had not violated the five principles of peaceful co-existence by her military intervention in Hungary.

In a 2,000-word editorial broadcast by the New China News Agency it said the request for Soviet troops to intervene "coincides with the genuine desires of the Hungarian people." It added: "In helping the Hungarian workers and peasants revolutionary government to suppress the revolt, the Soviet Union did not violate its declaration of October 30 nor the five principles of peaceful co-existence."

The newspaper criticised the Western countries for sympathising with the Hungarian rebels, who had killed "Communists and other sterling patriots."

If the Soviet Russian troops had not assisted, "Hungary today could only become a Fascist hell, an imperialist outpost for overthrowing various other European democracies and engineering a new world war."

It claimed that after leaving Budapest once "the Soviet forces would not have chosen to go through the hardships involved and take action again unless it had been a case of absolute necessity of being impelled by comradeship."

The editorial called the Hungarian General, Pál Maléter, a "Fascist officer" and said the Hungarians under his command were "trusted henchmen of Cardinal Mindszenty who committed high treason and urged in his November 3 broadcast speech the elimination of socialism and the restoration of capitalism and the privileges of the Church, who took refuge in the United States legation on November 4."

The editorial went on to state that Soviet Russia had not violated the five principles of peaceful co-existence by her military action in Hungary.

Warsaw Treaty

"Clearly the stand taken by the Soviet Union toward the Hungarian people is identical with that toward the Egyptian people to help them defend freedom and oppose imperialism," it said. But, the opposite was true of the Western countries. "The stand of many Western countries towards the Hungarian and Egyptian peoples is also identical—to slaughter them, try to enslave them, deprive them of their sovereignty and interfere in their internal affairs."

According to the People's Daily, "Soviet troops do not want an inch of the Hungarian soil."

But the editorial added: "After the restoration of order in Hungary the Soviet Union and Hungary will again hold negotiations over the question of stationing troops under the Warsaw Treaty." —Reuters.

Civil Planes For Cairo

The Hague, Nov. 13. The Royal Dutch airlines KLM will resume some flights to Cairo from tomorrow following the reopening of Cairo Airport for civil aviation, it was announced here today.

The announcement added that planes to and from the Far East would not call at Cairo for the time being, but only direct on Middle East routes. —Reuters.

PRISONERS OF GAZA

★ OTTO JOHN'S TRIAL ★ Only Gave Secondary Information To Soviet Authorities

Karlsruhe, Nov. 13. Ex-West German intelligence chief, Otto John, told a court here today that he repeatedly considered committing suicide during his 17 months' stay in East Germany in 1954 and 1955.

John, who is being tried on charges of high treason, disappeared behind the Iron Curtain in July, 1954 and then reappeared in West Germany in December, 1955 in the company of Danish reporter, M. Bonde-Hendrickson.

John told the first day's hearing yesterday that he had been drugged by a friend, Dr. Wohlgemuth, and taken to the Soviet zone against his will.

He said he conveyed to the Soviet authorities the names of secondary West German intelligence personnel, but never those of full-fledged agents working abroad. "I had to supply them with secondary information because if they suspected me of non-co-operation, they might have given me shots which would have destroyed my will power," John said. —France-Press.

Co-operated

Asked by the prosecutor today why he worked for East Germany, John said he hesitated to do so and often thought of suicide, but finally decided to co-operate in the hope of fleeing to the West.

John added: "I did not think I would be indicted on my return."

Asked why he did not disclose this kidnapping at a news conference he gave for Western reporters in East Germany, John said bitterly: "I would like to see anyone do that in Soviet hands."

John said the East German authorities took him to the Crimea, where they questioned him repeatedly and then returned him to Berlin and assigned him to write a study of the problem of German reunification.

John said all his movements were watched but he decided last December to trust Bonde-Hendrickson to help him return to West Berlin.

He said he trusted Bonde-Hendrickson only after learning that he was a friend of Prince Louis Ferdinand of Prussia.

John said he did not intend to cause harm to the West German Government when he told a news conference in East Germany last year that the European Defence Community agreement contained a "secret" clause.

According to John he referred to an Allied agreement on the exchange of information and not to a secret political agreement.

John said that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had asked him to investigate Reunification Minister, Jakob Kaiser, but he attached scant importance to the request and did not open the enquiry. John caused a murmur in the courtroom when he said he had visited Adenauer at this time accompanied by the Secretary of State, Hans Globke. Adenauer had said he never saw John.

Three Alleged Spies On Trial

Berlin, Nov. 13. Two Germans and a Czech were today accused of espionage activities for the American secret service, and of subversive activity against Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Germans, Rudolf Stricker and Max Plass, and the Czech, Josef Skobranek, were accused when their trial opened today in Dresden.

Stricker was accused of helping seven American secret service agents to get into Poland and Czechoslovakia between April 1955 and May 1956. Plass and Skobranek were arrested as they were trying to cross the frontier between East Germany and Czechoslovakia by the use of false passports. —France-Press.

IKE THANKS BULGANIN

Paris, Nov. 13. President Eisenhower today sent a message to the Soviet Premier, Nikita Bulganin, thanking him for his good wishes on the occasion of Eisenhower's election to a second term as United States President. Tass news agency announced tonight.

In his message, which was handed to Bulganin by the United States Ambassador in Moscow, Mr. Charles Bohlen, Eisenhower assured Bulganin of his intention to work for world peace, and for a better understanding, based on justice for all. —France-Press.

ALLIES TAKE PORT SAID

Port Said, Nov. 13. British and French troops today moved into Port Said, Egypt, after a brief battle with Egyptian forces.

The British and French forces entered the port without incident, and the Egyptian forces withdrew. The British and French forces are now in control of the port.

Need For United Arab Policy

London, Nov. 13. President Camille Chamoun, of the Lebanon, said the Arab "summit" conference which opened today in Beirut had been summoned because of the "pressing need for united Arab internal and international policy," Cairo Radio reported.

The radio said that the Lebanese President declared the meeting was brought about by "the realization of dangers of the present position."

In addition to President Chamoun, those taking part are King Saud of Saudi Arabia, King Hussein of Jordan, King Faisal of Iraq, President Shukri al-Kuwatli of Syria and Emir of Beqa, Crown Prince of Yemen.

Representatives of Egypt, the Sudan and Libya were also due to attend. —Reuters.

Conference Could Settle Mideast Crisis

—ISRAELI MINISTER

Paris, Nov. 13. Israel's Foreign Minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, said on arrival here today that the Middle East crisis can be settled solely by means of a conference between Israel and its Arab neighbours.

Mrs. Meir arrived by air from Tel Aviv for a two-hour stop-over en route to New York, where she will head Israel's delegation at the United Nations General Assembly session, which opened today.

Replying to questions, Mrs. Meir said Israel had always been willing to meet Arab nations individually or together at anytime and anywhere.

RISK OF SPREADING

Mrs. Meir said Israel's Premier, David Ben-Gurion, agreed last week to withdraw Israeli troops from the Sinai peninsula because Israel's standing policy is to accept United Nations decisions.

The Middle East conflict bore out Israel's view that the Israeli-Arab quarrel could not be localised and packed spreading to the rest of the world, Mrs. Meir added.

Mrs. Meir said that arms supplies which Israel troops found in Sinai far exceeded the needs of the Egyptian army. This justified Israel's fear that Egypt was being "over-armed." —France-Press.

Segregation Ruling In Alabama

Washington, Nov. 13. The United States Supreme Court today unanimously ruled as "unconstitutional" the regulations passed by the Alabama town of Montgomery to prevent white and Negro passengers using the same public transport.

The Supreme Court upheld an earlier decision by the Montgomery Federal Court, which ruled that the law of the State of Alabama and the city regulations of Montgomery were unconstitutional.

The Supreme Court based its decision on two earlier judgments ordering the abolition of segregation in schools, parks and public golf courses.

The Negro population of Montgomery have boycotted the city's public transport since last April, owing to the segregation regulations, and organised their own transport service with private cars. The municipality recently banned the service. —France-Press.

Dollars For Jets

Washington, Nov. 13. Australian officials today were reported to have completed negotiations for a dollar loan to help finance the purchase of seven big Boeing 707 jetliners for Qantas Empire Airways.

It was understood that the Board of World Bank would discuss formal approval of the loan at its regular weekly meeting tomorrow, and an announcement would be made later in the day. —Reuters.

Greed Causes Bidder's Fall

By OSWALD JACOBY

SOUTH began today's hand with nine tricks and wound up with only eight. Greed was the cause of his downfall.

West opened the queen of hearts, and South held off. He should have won in the dummy in order to take the diamond finesse at once.

West continued with the jack of hearts, and South won with the king. He should have led the ace and then the nine of diamonds to assure the contract, but he led a club to dummy to return the queen of diamonds.

West refused the first diamond, and declared the jack of diamonds from dummy. East discarded a heart, and South went up with the ace of diamonds and returned another heart.

West could now see that South had no heart and could not reach the dummy to cash the diamonds unless the queen of spades was an entry. Counting on his partner to have a high spade, West abandoned the hearts. Instead, he led the queen of clubs.

South held off, and West shifted to the ten of spades. South won with the jack of spades and cashed the ace of spades, whereupon West discarded his last diamond. South next took the ace of clubs, and West cleverly dropped the jack.

South could take the nine of clubs, but he then had to give two spade tricks to East. This was one trick more than he could afford.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been: South—West North—East 1 Diamond 1 Heart 1 Spade Pass. You, South, hold: AK53 ♠ 982 ♣ AKJ6 ♠ AK4. What do you do?
A—Bid four spades. This strong bid invites partner to try for a slam if he has extra strength, particularly in the suit you hold.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: AK53 ♠ 982 ♣ AKJ6 ♠ AK4. What do you do?
Answer—Bid four spades.

CHRIST CHURCH MEADOW could be saved by driving a broad, straight road through the centre of Oxford.

This would necessitate the demolition of several colleges, but the gain to traffic would be incalculable, and the quadrangles and lawns of the demolished buildings could be used as car parks. There would then be no need to build a road through the Meadow, and that space could be converted into a track for car or motor-cycle rallies, with ice-cream stalls, milk bars, and cafeterias. This scheme would have the additional advantage of straightening and broadening the High, which would be incorporated in the new road. Only thus can a university city be developed into a planned industrial suburb of Iley.

DUKE WILL SEE AUSTRALIAN CATTLE STATION

Alice Springs, Nov. 13.
When the Duke of Edinburgh returns to England after his visit to the Olympic Games in Australia, he will take with him a gift from a king—"A boomerang for little fella Prince Charles."

The present will come from dark-skinned, laughing King Jackie of the McArthur River tribe of Australian aborigines. King Jackie and his tribe live on the 5,000-square-mile Brunette Downs cattle station, miles from civilisation (for even neighbours), in the Northern Territory, nearly 400 miles northeast of Alice Springs.

The Duke will meet King Jackie when he pays a flying visit to Brunette Downs station in the flat country of Australia, centre on November 10 on his way to Melbourne for the opening of the Games, after visiting Papua and New Guinea.

Able To Relax

"The Duke will be spending less than three hours here," said Mrs. Stella Barnes, wife of the station manager, Eric Barnes, "but in that time we shall try to show him what we can of station life. He will be able to relax here."

The Duke's schedule says he will be at Brunette Downs for two hours twenty minutes. This is not long to see over one of Australia's biggest cattle stations—the largest is the 11,262-square-mile Alexandria Downs, also in the Territory—but the Duke is certain to remember his short visit whenever he thinks of Australia.

While he is there, and during his air trips to and from Brunette Downs, he will get an insight into the pastoral industry which is the mainstay of the Territory's economy in spite of the hazards of drought and nonseasonal downpours, and the distance from shipping points.

The Northern Territory carries a cattle population of 1,000,000 in its 323,027 square miles. Perhaps no better place than Brunette Downs station could have been picked to show the Duke something of the real outback.

The camel train and packhorses have been replaced by the aeroplane which lands on the air strip right alongside the homestead and keeps the station in touch with the outside world.

Planes Call

A commercial aircraft calls twice a week at the station strip, which is also used by the flying doctor aircraft of companies prospecting in the north and others.

As the Duke's aeroplane approaches the homestead, he may catch a glimpse of some of the men of men who keep the great area running, the men who continually grade the hundreds of miles of bush roads running between the water holes so essential for the life of the stock, the engineers and mechanics who have a fulltime job keeping the windmills turning, the men of the camp who follow the 50,000 head of cattle, branding and moving them to fresh grazing runs as they eat the land round the various water-points.

From the air, the Duke will get a clear picture of the homestead, with the brilliant red bougainvillea and poinsettia growing in the well kept garden, and the green grass and trees running down to the water of a lagoon.

Watch Lubras

It will probably look rather like an oasis from the air with perhaps a breeze whipping up dust from the surrounding area, eaten out by cattle and not yet rejuvenated by the rains of the October to April season.

Then the Duke's aeroplane will touch down on the red gravel airstrip and he will be taken to the cool homestead through a fernery sheltered from the sweltering heat by a thick roof of tawaia.

If the Duke has time, he may go down to the lagoon and watch the lubras (aboriginal women) fishing while the old men tell him of hunts and corroborees which took place when Brunette Downs was just a small homestead with no trees or garden.

And he will probably see the neat little station hospital where Sister Ellen Kettle, of the Department of Health, inspects all the station children every time she stops at Brunette Downs for a week or so on her rounds of the outback. Or perhaps the dental van, which calls from time to time, will be there on one of its visits to attend to the station's staff and the natives who live there.

Stacked High

When he flies on to Alice Springs, the Duke will inspect the Flying Doctor base and may speak to the people of the outback over his wireless network. The Duke is a keen sportsman, a keen hunter, and a keen fisherman, who also receives and transmits messages over the station's radio network.

The shelves of the store are stacked high with tinned foods and brightly coloured stockmen's shirts, car parts, machinery, and anything and everything needed to keep the station going while the roads and airstrip are closed by "the wet"—the Territory's name for the monsoon season. Look in the station's postman, weatherman, bookkeeper and radio operator. His weather books show that the Duke is in for a hot time during his visit.

Shy station lubras, with their big-eyed picaninies, will be there to see the Duke, while the station's native stockmen will want to show him how they hunt kangaroos with spears and woomeras (spear-throwing sticks) and how they can bring down birds in flight with their boomerangs.

The people of the outback are sorry that the Duke will not see the Brunette Downs races which are held in cooler weather and are famous throughout the Territory. More than 1,000 people travel hundreds of miles by car and air each year for the week of racing, parties and rodeo events at Brunette Downs.

Spirited Horses

Stockmen and station-owners race their spirited horses across the big homestead paddocks. The catch-catch night, there are dances and parties where scrub-turkeys cooked in 44-gallon drums are served on to plates with a shovel.

Although the Duke will miss these festivities, it is certain that he will find much to interest him at Brunette Downs before he leaves by air for Tennant Creek and Alice Springs.—China Mail Special.

Hungarians Arrive In Austria

A frequent sight in Austria these days are groups of refugees from stricken Hungary. The Austrians are doing what they can for them, but cannot cope with all the numbers. Fortunately the nations of the free world have offered generous help, and will admit thousands of refugees inside their boundaries. Picture left shows a Hungarian mother feeding her child at a refugee camp; on right is another Hungarian mother and child, as they arrive at the camp.—Express Photo.

PIANO BUT NO PIANIST

East London, Nov. 13.
Members of the Border Soccer Referees' Association omitted one important player from their "team" when they held their annual dinner at the local hotel. They had hired a piano for after-dinner entertainment. About 30 members and guests gathered in the lounge—and then came the blow. Not one person present could play the piano, so it stood opened, ready and silent throughout the evening.—China Mail Special.

ZEBDONK EXPECTED

Bloomfontein, Nov. 13.
A baby "Zebdonk" with a zebra mother and a donkey father is expected to be born in the Bloomfontein Zoo soon. It will be the first zebdonk to be born in the zoo but not the first of its kind there. Years ago one was presented to the Zoo but it died soon afterwards. Its skeleton is now in the National Museum.—China Mail Special.

STOCK CAR RACING MENACE

Bloomfontein, Nov. 13.
Stock car racing is responsible for recklessness among youthful drivers, said Comdt J.F. Vorster, District Commandant of Police for Bloomfontein.

After seeing such performances, they "carry out the same tricks on public roads."

He was opposing a motion that stock car racing should be allocated two nights of the arena programme at the next Bloomfontein Show.

If a kill can be guaranteed, one can draw record crowds, he said.—China Mail Special.

WEST GERMAN WAR DECORATION MAKERS PREPARE

Bonn, Nov. 13.
West German makers of war decorations are preparing for a rush of orders when the wearing of iron crosses and other battle honours from both World Wars ceases soon to be an offence.

A bill, which Parliament is expected to approve within a few months, will lift a ban on the wearing of decorations which the Allies imposed in 1945.

It makes one rule about decorations awarded during Hitler's war: the swastikas must be removed. In most cases, they are likely to be replaced by oak leaves; in a few, by the Prussian "Iron cross" symbol—a black Maltese cross.

Some have already started referring to the proposed oak leaves as "fig leaves."

SUPPLIED THOUSANDS

Frau Franziska Schneider, who has been selling decorations in her Bonn shop since 1918, supplied thousands of iron crosses and other medals of both World Wars to customers since World War II. Although it is illegal to wear the decorations, it is no offence to buy them.

As manufacturers have been forbidden to produce World War II decorations since 1945, stocks of many awards have been sold out. But in Frau Schneider's shop, iron crosses of both World Wars are still available for ten West marks (about 17 shillings sterling).

The highest Nazi military decoration, the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross with oak leaves, swords and diamonds, costs about 120 West marks (about £10 sterling).

At present, anyone may buy these decorations. When the new law comes into force, proof of the award will be required. Soldiers who lost their citations will be given substitutes if they can produce evidence of the original award.

BUYING IRON CROSSES

About 10,000,000 Germans received the Iron Cross in the two world wars. Frau Schneider has been selling about 80 a year for the past few years. Her biggest difficulty is satisfying customers seeking some of the decorations which the various German States awarded during World War I. Many of the dies for these medals were destroyed by the bombing of the factories of four metal manufacturers in Berlin. The small number of requests for these medals made it uneconomical to make new dies.

An antique dealer in Munich has been buying iron crosses from war widows in order to lay in stocks for his expected rush of clients.

In the same city, Herr Karl Loy, proprietor of a firm which produced medal ribbons for the army and Nazi Party until 1945, expects soon to be producing military ribbons again.

Another of his productions was a silk sash bearing the words "Occupation 1945", which he made for the American Army after the Nazi collapse. The general attitude of ex-servicemen who hold battle honours from World War II, including some present Members of Parliament, is "We fought above all for Germany not for Hitler." This is a view put forward equally nowadays by the former Nazi fanatic and the "unpolitical soldier."

NOT WAITING

Some ex-soldiers, not inclined to wait for the passage of the new law concerning decorations, have already started wearing their decorations, occasionally with the swastika, at local festivals and military reunions, according to an announcement from the Ministry of the Interior. None has so far been prosecuted.

Unless there are surprise amendments, the new law will continue the Allied ban on decorations of a purely Nazi character, such as party awards and the "mother crosses" which Hitler gave to increase the birthrate. The "campaign" medals awarded to soldiers who entered Austria, the Sudetenland and the Memel territory will also remain banned.—China Mail Special.

SUEZ RIGHTS AND WRONGS: MENZIES TAKES HIS STAND

Sydney, Nov. 6.
Australia, with the rest of the world, has this week been arguing the rights and wrongs of the Suez crisis with Egypt and, it must be admitted, a poll taken of letters in newspapers, of talk in bars and in the streets, finds the scales swinging against the action of the Mother Country.

But the Prime Minister, Mr Menzies, in his statement to the House of Representatives on the situation, had a mind untroubled about any wrongs.

While Mr Menzies, who had been in contact with Colonel Nasser, and because there is no doubt that his conscience was clear that the present course of action was the right one.

He even gloried over the fact that he does not remember it over such matters, the fact that Australia was not involved before hand of the British action.

Hungarians Can Stay On In Australia If They Want To

London, Nov. 13.

Hungarians at the Olympic Games can stay on in Australia if they want to, their Minister of Sport, Mr Gyula Hegyi, said in Melbourne today, adding that none of the team had in fact made any appeal for sanctuary so far.

The International Olympics Committee claims to have done "what politicians have been unable to do"—arrange a truce by which athletes from East and West Germany will compete under a common flag.

Mr Gyula Hegyi, Chief de Mission of the Hungarian contingent, said any differences that might have existed in the team had been settled and all were now united. He himself had every intention of returning to Hungary.

Any member of the team who wanted to stay in Australia would be permitted to do so. "We don't think there will be many," he said.

Mr Hegyi said he was trying to find out through the Swiss Consul how the families of the team were faring in Hungary.

There were twenty Hungarian athletes in the team. The Hungarian flag was hoisted outside their quarters today.

Mr Hegyi said the flying of the old Hungarian flag had been approved by the present government who, he added, had recommended him minister (not a government portfolio but an honorary title).

SOVIET CONTINGENT

More than 1,000 people crowded the airport terminal tonight to welcome 72 members of the Russian Olympic team.

Before the plane landed, a warning that demonstrators would be severely dealt with was broadcast over loudspeakers.

There were no incidents. The team, led by Mr Nikolai Romanov, Chairman of the Sports Committee of the USSR, was welcomed by Mr Manole would give a standard gauge between all capital cities.

All this would serve a purpose of a sort but it needs to look far beyond the horizon to see the day when all Australian lines will be standard gauge.

ARMY'S BIG NEED

The Australian Army has a battle on its hands which it has been steadily losing for months—to get doctors to enlist.

At present it has only 12 full-time doctors to provide medical attention for about 23,000 soldiers.

At any time this also should have at least 30 doctors. Western Australia has not one full-time doctor to watch over the health of that command.

To satisfy its needs it is constantly calling on the services of civilian doctors, most of the teaching hospitals of Brisbane, Sydney and Melbourne.

All authorities admit the system is not satisfactory, but it is the only one they can find that helps to keep the army healthy.

BY RUSSIAN DIPLOMAT IN PORT SAID

Port Said, Nov. 13.

Anglo-French headquarters in this occupied city said today that the top-ranking Russian diplomat here is the man responsible for Port Said's "under-current of intimidation."

Little slips of paper threatening "death to the foreigners who collaborated with the occupiers" have been appearing under doors of homes in Port Said's big Italian and Greek colonies.

The Italians had organised a big relief effort to help get Port Said back on its feet, and were bringing in food ships from Italy to help their Arab neighbours.

"We have very good reason to believe that the Russian Consul is being a blooming nuisance," said one high-ranking British officer.

Russian Consul Anatoli Chikov has been seen touring the city in a big Soviet sedan with a tame and sickle dog and addressing small meetings of the Egyptian population.

British officers said Chikov hurried around the city during last week's battle here, urging Egyptians to hold out on a promise that Soviet military intervention was not far off.

The British said they did not know what he is promising now but that apparently lot of the hesitation among the Port Said population in getting city back to normal can be traced to him.

BEATEN UP
Several cases in which persons were beaten in order to discourage co-operation with Anglo-French forces have been reported in the last few days.

There was also one shop burned down in what the British described "as an obvious case of intimidation."

The brilliant, summerlike sun which shines here all day helps to cloak a lot of the troubles.

During the pleasant daylight hours, Port Said is becoming more and more normal. Shops are re-opening. The Egyptian population appears to have lost any hesitation about coming out into the street.

Egyptians can also be seen playing football with British soldiers in side streets.

But it's different at night. There's a curfew from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m., and where the population goes at night is hard to picture. The civilian population is still without electricity and not a sliver of light or a sound of life comes from their shuttered houses.—United Press.
